REUNION OF VETERANS

In Louisville Will Break Records For Attendance.

50,000 ARE EXPECTED.

Many Hotels Already Have Every Room Engaged.

The vanguard of more than 50,000 visitors, 9,000 veterans and 3,000 sponsors and maids of honor will begin to arrive in Louisville this week to take part in the Confederate reunion next week. Notification has already been received that forty-eight special trains will steam into the city, bringing veterans, their friends and families. Other specials are being made up from distant parts of the country, indicating that the reunion this year will in all likelihood eclipse anything of a similar nature held in Louisville in many years. Col. Thos. D. Osborne, Chairman of the Press Committee, says that every room in the Galt House, Willard and Fifth Avenue Hotels had been engaged for the whole time of the encampment. There are twenty-seven hotels in the city, however, and those who cannot be accommodated otherwise will be able to secure rooms with private families. Many of those coming have relatives in Louisville and will remain with them during their stay here. Arrangements have been made for an abundance of cots, and there is no fear but what all comers can be accommodated.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. Charles Brumfield, the tobaccoist at Fairview.

BUSY WEEK

Is This, in All Branches of Tobacco Business.

The tobacco business in all its branches is moving along with a rush this week. The weed is in good order for handling and receipts are very heavy. Sales on the breaks and privately will probably be heavier than for any week since the market opened up. Loose receipts on the floor Tuesday were large and the prospects are that they will be much heavier today. Prices for the loose article rule about the same as the quotations of last week, all tobacco commanding satisfactory figures. The association warehouses are very busy receiving and pricing for the market.

PLAINT OF A GIRL GOLFER.

She Tells Her Troubles in a Letter to a London Weekly—Question as to the Writer.

Rather a remarkable letter, signed "An Athletic Girl," was recently received by a writer in T. P.'s Weekly, who had something flattering to say of women who went in for sports. The only question is: Did a woman write the letter? Here it is: "I am an athletic girl; I hunt all the winter and golf all the summer. I am a jolly good sport, and all that—we are in a way paid to every man, especially if he is very young and afraid of any more feminine women. But no one wants to marry us except some penniless nabobs or equally penniless curates.

"Last summer I was at a garden party with many 'sportswomen.' I heard a man—a real man—say: 'They all look as if they had their best clothes on.' I was staggered, but I looked—we did—and as if they were some one else's best clothes laid the bargain. I looked at my image in the glass when I got home and wondered what man on earth would want to kiss my head, let alone my hair, when my heart could beat one stroke more at the sight of my clumsy figure.

"At this same party was a smooth, white, cool woman, whose voice was not a rusty hinge like ours, and whose movements were music, too—without rolling of hips and shoulders. Her clothes grew to her as naturally as her satin skin. The very sportsmen—hunting men and golfers—were spell-bound; they were traitors! As my sister said, we went home like two rubbish boys bulking along in petticoats.

"Even a hunting man—who my sister said would be satisfied as to beauty if one dressed a stableman in a habit and strapped in his waist, provided he rode well—over his head as a rule—inferior men, though 'splendid across country.' Athletics and sports are all right for young girls, but at 25 years some of us wish we had never seen them.

"CRIBS" FOR EXAMINATIONS

Articles of Daily Use Often Used by School Pupils When Hard Tests Are at Hand.

"Examination time is not far off," said a school-teacher. "I suppose a number of my boys are already beginning to evolve new ideas in crisis.

"I have a collection of captured crabs of considerable ingenuity. One crab is a book, circular in form, of the size to fit in a watch case. There are 30 finely written pages to the book; it contains all the more difficult propositions in plain geometry. The creator of this crab had it in his watch and had been consulting it without detection for two hours when, unluckily, some one joggled his arm and the crab fell to the floor.

"I have a yellow lead pencil with the kings of England and the dates and results of all the important battles of English history written on it.

"I have a penknife and an eraser that are hieroglyphed well. They contain the irregular French verbs.

"Once in a geography examination I saw a boy looking at his shoe a good deal. I found that he had written on his shoe the capitals of the principal countries of the world.

"Few boys use their cuffs as crabs. Black writing on white linen is too easily seen, too dangerous. The cuff as a crab is obsolete.

"The nails of the left hand, in the case of the boys who can write finely enough, will often contain a great number of Latin rules, Greek verbs, dates and such like valuable information. The nails make one of the best and safest crabs known to schoolmasters."

Is you suffer from backache. There is only one way to cure it. The perfect way is to use the kidneys.

A bad back means sick kidneys. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow. Doan's Kidney pills are made for kidneys only.

Are endorsed by Hopkinsville people.

C. B. Eades, of the firm of Eades & Davis, proprietors of the coal yard on 7th street and the L. & N. R. R., and who lives at 402 East 7th street, says: "I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I went to Thomas & Trahern's drug store, procured a box and gave them a thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back and there followed a weakness of the kidneys which was expending especially at night. I tried various remedies, but none of them gave anything like as satisfactory results as I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended the pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

THIS COWBOY PARTICULAR.

Plainman Wanted Story, But Upon Its Presentation He Thought He Had Cash Coming.

A cowboy living in Arizona, 40 miles from a post office or a bank store, was a transactor convert. He learned my address from a Chicago man who happened to be traveling in that country and wrote me a long letter, in which he said he was eager to read my new book, "The Sherrods," which had just been published. He had ridden out 40 miles going and coming twice a week for a month, but had been unable to secure the book at the nearest town, says a writer in the Bookman. He was writing to ask me if I would send him a copy by mail if he would send me the price. I sent him a copy with my compliments and told him he need not mind the price. I was only too happy to give him the book. It is received with little exception on my part to discover that he did not like the story. I have only to repeat what he said: "I don't wonder you are happy to give it away. You don't expect people to buy it, do you? I'm much obliged to you for giving it to me for nothing. Let even at that I think there is some change coming to me."

What criticism could be more caustic than that? It penetrated to the very quick of my pride, and I made the mistake of retaliating politely. I sent him a dollar and fifty cents in stamps and asked if that made us square. He wrote me one better by responding that he could use the stamps to great advantage in warning his friends not to read the book. I was afraid to reply to this.

HOW TARPON ARE TRAPPED

Vivid Tale of Mastering the Fish—An Hour's Knowledge Before Success Is Obtained.

The boat stops still; yonder is a swirl on a wave, and a great fish, with a greenish body and a large, projecting fin, appears above it. It is a breathless moment. "Look out, dar," yells "Tony"; there is a splash about 30 yards away, your line becomes taut and is gliding on like lightning before you can apply the brake.

When you do it is almost jerked from your grasp and simultaneously the tarpon leaps and writhes above the water again, says Outing. There is no sight more beautiful to the eye than that of the tarpon, like a gleam of light from darkness, leaping forth from the green sea. That moment when the tarpon has the bait and you strike is the one of all others most fraught with intense excitement. It is the first crisis in the battle. He is down again and your hook holds. He darts back and forth, ever going deeper in his wild rushes. It is an earnest fight. The first ten minutes seem like an hour. "Rush 'im, reel up, don't let him rest!" following the advice, your arms tire, your hands become numb, it may be bleeding and blistered, but you save your fish. Thus you are towed out toward the sea, always fighting. In his mad rushes the huge fish gained on you, taking out nearly 100 yards of your line. During the first half hour he has decidedly the better of the fight and keeps most of the line. During the second half hour you gain on him. The fish is now divided. Now the long rushes and leaps begin to tell and he loses wind. If he did not help to kill himself by these wild rushes and leaps, you could never land him. By some kind of intuition, an angler can tell when he has gained the mastery over a fish. You feel instinctively that the crisis has been passed and the boat turns back toward the beach; and as the beach is nearer you reel in and fight at close range.

Once he dashes almost up to the boat and suddenly turns about; you nearly lose him that time. You soon lead him back, however. Now he lies near the boat; you see his gleaming sides glisten in the light. "Stiddy, now," says our man, as the boat touches the beach; you climb out and, resisting his last waning strength, as he lashes spray upon you, you pull him out upon the sand and the fight is won.

KAISER IS A HARD WORKER

German Emperor Has Even a Yankee Millionaire Beaten for Strenuous Exercise.

An American manufacturer who had recently been in Germany returned with a budget of personal incidents concerning the German emperor, whom he was so fortunate as to meet several times. As a worker the kaiser beats even a Yankee millionaire," he says in the New York Herald. "Why, even on the morning of his marriage he appeared at the barracks at Potsdam at six o'clock to give a medal to a sergeant major. He was then simply Prince William, but to the officers, who were astonished to see him at such a moment, he said: 'I am only doing my duty.' And later, as emperor, he has said: 'It is not necessary that I live, but it is essential that I work.'"

"He never postpones any kind of business, but settles everything at the hour appointed, even though to do so he has to take an hour or so from his sleep. He has made it a rule that even an important dinner of twelve courses to 80 people shall not last longer than 50 minutes. In his bed-chamber, beside his bed, a brass affair worth $50, he keeps a paper and pencil, that he may make a note of anything that occurs to him before he goes to sleep or when he awakes in the morning."

TALK YOU OUGHT TO DROP

Margaret Writer Tells a Number of Time-Worn Expressions That May Well Be Lost.

Orson Sweet Marden, in Success Magazine, declares that some persons should eliminate the following from their daily talk:

Saying that fate is against you. Finding fault with the weather. Anticipating evils in the future. Pretending, and be your real self.

Going around with a gloomy face. Faultfinding, nagging and worrying. Taking offense where none is intended.

Drivelling on fancied slights and wrongs. Talking big things and doing small ones.

Scolding and flying into a passion over trifles. Boasting of what you can do in stead of doing it.

Thinking that life is a grind, and not worth living. Talking continually about yourself and your affairs.

Deprecating yourself and making light of your abilities. Saying unkind things about acquaintances and friends.

Exaggerating and making mountains out of mole-hills. Lamenting the past, holding on to disagreeable experiences.

Pitying yourself and bemoaning your lack of opportunities. Comparing yourself with others to your own disadvantage.

Working once in awhile and take time to renew your energies. Waiting round for chances to turn up. Go and turn them up.

Writing letters when the blood is hot which you may regret later. Thinking that all the good chances and opportunities are gone by.

Thinking of yourself to the exclusion of everything and everyone else. Carping and criticizing. See the best rather than the worst in others.

Dreaming that you would be happier in some other place or circumstances. Belittling those whom you envy because you feel that they are superior to yourself.

Dilating on your pains and aches and misfortunes to everybody who will listen to you. Speculating as to what you would do in some one else's place, and do your best in your own.

Longing for the good things that others have instead of going to work and earning them for yourself. Looking for opportunities hundreds or thousands of miles away instead of right where you are.

Europe Likes Our Salmon

Puget Sound and Columbia Fish Are Offered to Residents of Berlin and Paris.

Puget sound and Columbia river salmon are delicacies offered in a fresh state to the people of Paris, Berlin, Copenhagen and other European cities, says the Seattle correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

These fish are being successfully shipped in cold storage from the plants of Puget sound and the Columbia river direct to Copenhagen and other European ports, arriving there in a perfect state of preservation.

In a recent shipment sent by way of New York and Copenhagen to European centers, 30,000 Columbia river Rhinok salmon were handled without the loss of a single fish. The pink beauties were served as table delicacies without the loss of any of their flavor.

The export of the Pacific coast salmon in cold storage is really in an experimental stage as yet. It is only within the past few years that the cold storage plants have been able to ship successfully to eastern points, but the sale of salmon on the Atlantic coast is now a common enterprise.

Cold storage houses are competing with the canneries, and, where the demand justifies it, the cold storage people have outbid the canners. So long as the supply runs low the cold storage men will get the better part of the salmon caught either in the Columbia river or Puget sound. This has been demonstrated in the American trade, and will be more than ever true since the European demand has opened.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The Duchess wore a wonderful train of silver brocade made at Moscow, and which was the gift of the Grand Duke Michael. It was borne by two pages. The embroideries on the train, which was nearly fourteen feet in length and seven feet wide, were done after the designs of Prof. Doepfer in pink and silver. HER LIFE WORK RELINQUISHED.

Mrs. Rosa Mason Bramham
Resigns From Public Schools of City.

HAS GONE TO OMAHA.

Has Taught More Children
Than Any Other Teacher in Hopkinsville.

As has been before noted in these columns, Mrs. Jas. G. Bramham, for 24 years a teacher in the public schools of Hopkinsville, voluntarily retired at the end of the last session and will go to live with her children in other states.

No lady ever lived in this city more universally beloved than Mrs. Bramham. Teaching in the primary grades, she has taught nearly every child that has passed through the public schools. Of recent years she has been principal of the Virginia School, teaching in the second grade. Her leave-taking on the last day of school was impressive in the extreme. The children of all the grades crowded about her, many of them weeping, and kissed her goodbye. She was presented with several presents by the teachers and children. These included the finest suit case that could be purchased, silver mounted mirror, comb, brush, etc. The children in their society had previously taken formal action, the resolutions appearing in our last issue.

Sketch of Mrs. Bramham.

In 1867 a bright and pretty young lady came to Hopkinsville from Virginia. Her name was Miss Rosa Mason, and she came to teach in South Kentucky College. She occupied this position for three years, impressing everybody with her loveliness of character and sweetness of disposition. This was especially the case in regard to Prof. James G. Bramham, a young Virginian, a professor in the college, fresh from the Confederate army, and still partially disabled from wounds received in battle. It 1870 they were wedded, and located permanently in this city. Their marriage was a happy one and in time three stalwart sons and two daughters came to bless their home.

When the present public schools were opened—Feb. 1, 1881—Mrs. Bramham was elected one of the eight teachers, and she has been re-elected without opposition every year since that time. One other teacher, Mrs. J. B. McKenzie, who started with the schools, still remains and has just been again re-elected for the 25th time.

During all these years Mrs. Bramham has been characterized by buoyancy of spirits and lightness of heart. Not long ago she told a boy who was not fond of study, "If you will know your lesson to-morrow, I'll dance for joy." The youngster showed up with a perfect lesson and, true to her word, the white-haired teacher danced about the room to the infinite delight of all the pupils.

It was Mrs. Bramham's duty as principal to do the "whipin' act" for the Virginia Schools, but she ruled without much force, and when it was resorted to, it was with motherly spanks.

One of the boys who had some experience of this kind, in the midst of the general gloom of her farewell, said:

"Miss Bramham, I'm mighty sorry you're goin'. I'm 'fraid I'll get a teacher worse than you." This, of course, was but a bit of childish humor and the little fellow soon shedding tears, when he was given a hug with the rest.

Mrs. Bramham during the last quarter of a century has taught in one instance three generations, for some of the girls of 1881 are now the grand-mothers of 1905.

Asked to say a parting word to her friends, Mrs. Bramham authorized this:

"Teaching has been a labor of love."

with me. In all these years I do not remember ever to have missed the school room days. I did not feel the inspiration of a bright and sunny morning. It has been by me a blessed privilege to teach for the people of Hopkinsville. No such loyal and appreciative patronage can be found elsewhere. Under such circumstances the teacher gives to the children of Hopkinsville the best that is in her, and here lies the success of our splendid schools."

Mr. and Mrs. Bramham left Monday for Omaha, Neb., where they will spend the summer with their oldest daughter, Mrs. Berry, of 2604 Davenport St., Omaha. From there they will go to Grand Rapids, Wis., where their two unmarried sons, Jim and Mason, reside.

In common with all the people of Hopkinsville, we bid them God speed on their journey and wish for the honored couple many more years of happiness and prosperity.

JOINS CARNIVAL.

Miss Jennie Reynolds, a
Midget, Went to Madisonville Yesterday.

Mr. H. B. Reynolds, whose home is at Watertown, Tenn., came to the city Tuesday over the Tennessee Central and took the 5:45 morning train for Madisonville yesterday. Mr. Reynolds was accompanied by his daughter Miss Jennie, who has been engaged by the Seaman-Millican Carnival Co. to travel with them the remainder of the season. Miss Reynolds is a very small woman, being only 35 inches tall and weighs but 35 pounds. She wears a child's number 5½ shoe and dresses like a little girl of four years of age. She writes and spells well, has studied grammar and arithmetic and is really a bright young lady, and at first glance one would take her to be a woman of 22. She has a pretty intelligent face and is not inclined to talk freely with strangers. Her father is a man of medium height and weighs 135 pounds, while her mother is of ordinary height and weighs about 150 pounds. There are two sons and one other daughter in the family of average height and weight. This is the first year that Miss Reynolds has been before the public.

Monday night Mr. Geo. D. Dalton was placed on a cot and taken to the office of Dr. Blakey where his physicians applied the x-ray. This was done in order to satisfy themselves that the dislocated and fractured limb had been properly set and bandaged, and Mr. Dalton, who has suffered greatly since his mishap, was very glad to learn that his physicians had made a perfect success of their first treatment. There is no doubt but that Mr. Dalton will walk with a stiff limb the remainder of his life from the dislocation of his knee.

BLACKBURN
MAKES SPEECH

In Advocacy of His Race For Re-Election to the U. S. Senate.

ATTACKED DR. BOARD.

Also Takes a Whack at Chairman West of the County Committee.

Senator J. C. S. Blackburn filled his appointment Tuesday and addressed a crowd that almost filled the court room. He came in the night before and was at Hotel Latham a night and day.

The Senator was introduced by Mr. W. R. Howell and spoke for an hour and a half. The first part of his speech was devoted to national politics and the trusts. He spoke of the tobacco trust, with which the people of this district are now contending. He eulogized President Roosevelt's opposition to the trusts and his advocacy of railroad rate legislation and an open market for Panama supplies.

Passing from these matters, he devoted the greater part of the time to his own race and to a denunciation of the "State machine." He personally attacked Mr. Milton Board, Superintendent of the Western Asylum, and criticized Chairman James West, of the County Committee, for having a coal contract with the asylum. The effect of this portion of Senator Blackburn's speech was to array one class of the people against another, at a time when all party leaders are trying to harmonize things for a county ticket. Senator Blackburn not only reduced his own following by this attack, but made it more difficult to unite the party in local matters.

The Senator has had many friends and admirers in this county, but they care more about a Democratic administration in their own county than the election of any man for a fourth or fifth term to the Senate.

Senator Blackburn expressed himself as very confident of his re-election and predicted that if the present State organization remained in control of party affairs John W. Yerkes was liable to be the next Governor of Kentucky.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried every remedy without relief until I took Dr. King's New Discovery, for consumption, coughs and colds, which entirely cured my cough and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of throat and lungs. At R. C. Hardwick's, drugist, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Wheat Harvest Begun.

The wheat crop in this county is looking well and the yield will be much better than was expected six weeks ago. It is ripening fast and a few crops have already been cut. Mr. Chas. Boyd began cutting yesterday. Mr. John C. Thurmond has acres in wheat and will put the harvesting machines in the field next week. He thinks his crop will average twenty bushels to the acre. What has ripened unusually early this year.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Masonville, Ia., "that for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, Bucken's Arnica Salve is the best cure made. Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at R. C. Hardwick's, drugist."

LOST THREE AT PADUCAH.

Locals Struck Another Streak of Bad Luck Away From Home.

TEAM NOW AT CAIRO.

After Series With Egyptians The Browns Will Return Here.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.
Hopkinsville at Cairo.
Henderson at Paducah.
Vincennes at Princeton.

Standing to June 6.

Clubs—	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Paducah.....	33	25	8	.754
Vincennes.....	33	24	9	.727
Cairo.....	32	16	16	.500
Princeton.....	30	14	18	.437
Henderson.....	30	10	23	.303
Hopkinsville.....	33	9	24	.272

Hopkinsville lost the second game of the series at Paducah Monday, the score being 5 to 0. Chennault, the new twirler from Gallatin, Tenn., was on the slab for the Browns and made a fine impression, but, in the seventh inning the Indians found him for three safe drives and he was again touched up in the eighth. Paducah's five runs were made in the seventh and eighth innings. Barlow made a nice running catch, which was a feature of the game.

Paducah also won the last game of the series with Hopkinsville Tuesday, thus taking all three games from the Browns. The score in Tuesday's game was 3 to 2. Bomar and Schan composed the batteries for the Browns. Hopkinsville went to Cairo yesterday for three games and the team will return home to-night for a series here with Henderson.

At Cairo Monday Henderson lost to the Egyptians. The score was 5 to 3. Errors played a prominent part in this game, each team having five and all were costly.

The game at Vincennes Monday between the Alices and the Infants resembled old-fashioned town-ball in point of score-making. Princeton made 14 runs, and Vincennes 5.

Tuesday's game at Cairo resulted in a victory for Henderson. The score was: Henderson, 5; Cairo, 1.

Vincennes won the game from Princeton, played at Vincennes Tuesday. The Alices made 4 runs and the Infants, 1.

CHAT OFF THE BAT.

Bissell, an outfielder for Cairo, has been released. The Cairo management was informed that Bissell was under contract with Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Princeton forfeited the game to Vincennes Sunday. With the score standing 5 to 3 in favor of Vincennes, the Infants set up a kick over a decision of Umpire Bush and refused to play. Later they went to the field, but farcical playing was indulged in under the protest of the umpire, until Bush stopped the comedy and gave the game to Vincennes 9 to 0.

A dispatch sent out from Paducah says: "There is likely to be trouble in the Kitty league unless Paducah, Cairo and Vincennes get down to the salary limit. These clubs are way above the limit. Paducah is said to be paying twice the allowance, which is $800 a month. Hopkinsville is probably the only team obeying this section of the by-laws." President Brown has sent out a circular letter ordering all clubs to cut down to twelve players, exclusive of the manager, and to get within the salary limit of $800 a month.

Alexander has been released by Hopkinsville and he returned to his home in Clinton, Ky. this week. He will not play any more this season.

Officer Otto Mullen has accepted terms with the Henderson team and will report for duty with that club when they reach here for Saturday's game. He will play in the outfield. Mr. Mullen has asked the city council for a three months' leave of absence, in order that he may play ball during the balance of the season.

HYDRAULIC CEMENT.

Something about the Concrete of the Ancients.

The first hydraulic cement known to man was Pozzuolana cement, discovered by the Romans. It was first used to lay brick and stone in, probably because the Pozzuolana, which is a volcanic scoria found in Pozzuoli, near Rome, was a cheaper material than sand. The hydraulic property of this mortar was evidently soon discovered, and a true cement concrete was used by them earlier than 500 B. C. In the temple of Jupiter, Juno and Minerva, built in 509 B. C., the remains of large masses of this cement are found in good state of preservation.

In the temple of Castor, built in 496 B. C., this concrete was largely used. In the temple of Concord, a part of the forum built in 349 B. C., similar masses are found. In the Paladium, 300 B. C., are massive remains of some large cells, nothing of which now exists except the concrete core, although it was probably lined with marble.

In 24 B. C. the Pantheon was built with walls 20 feet thick, and the dome covering the central portion, 142 feet 6 inches in span, was cast in concrete, made of pumice stone, pozzuolana and lime, this dome being in one solid mass. The walls and dome are still intact. The Coliseum, finished in 79 A. D., was almost wholly built of concrete. Later structures were built by the Romans and also by the Moors, as many Moorish palaces along the Mediterranean bear testimony.

About twenty misdemeanor cases were called and continued until the September term. The John Fleming murder case was also continued until the fall term.

Bob Tyler entered his plea of guilty to the charge of selling liquor without a license and was fined $30 and costs.

The jury in the case of Ralph Radford, charged with breach of the peace, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed his fine at $50.

Millie Fields, charged with a breach of the peace, was found not guilty.

Mattie Brunaugh entered a plea of guilty to the charge of breach of the peace and was fined $25.

Five gaming cases were disposed of, each defendant being fined $25 and costs.
